

BEAUTYMART

Topshop, Oxford Circus

Set up by Millie Kendall of Ruby & Millie and former Vogue beauty editor Anna-Marie Solowij, BeautyMART is an independent store in Topshop that combines UK brands with quirky foreign products, such as Korean masks.

Oxford Circus, 214 Oxford Street, W1 (thisisbeautymart.co.uk)

KEVYN AUCOIN

Space NK, Duke of York Square, Chelsea

Whether you want to learn how to do killer smoky eyes or have them painted on for a night out, seek out Geraldo Frazao, the lead artist at Kevyn Aucoin's concession in SpaceNK. The Brazilian spent years working with Charlotte Tilbury's fashion show team and is one of the best in town.

PRECIOUS ABOUT MAKE-UP

Goldhawk Road

This pro make-up store is a hidden gem — for powders and foundations, it's better than any department store. Co-founder Jan Sewell, a BAFTA-winning make-up artist, is often there and is well worth taking advice from.

FACEBAR LONDON

Make-up artist Nicola Fiveash spent years working on fashion shows with the legendary Lucia Pica before deciding to set up her own professional make-up bar. Facebar is currently in residence at Butcher's hair salon and I highly recommend you book in for a makeover with Nicola — you won't be disappointed.

BEAUTY

TOM FORD COUNTER

Harrods, Knightsbridge

Set within the Harrods make-up department, the glossy Tom Ford counter has helpful, knowledgeable make-up artists who don't engage in the hard sell and who will only recommend things that suit you. Make a beeline for Lee O'Keefe — he really knows his stuff.

87-135 Brompton Road, SW1 (harrods.com)

BOBBI BROWN

Covent Garden

For an excellent free make-up lesson, visit Amalie Russell at Bobbi Brown. Russell, who works on London Fashion Week shows for the likes of Markus Lupfer and Orla Kiely, is the closest you'll get to Bobbi this side of the Atlantic — plus she does cracking brow-shaping.
